

WE NOMINATE

Robert Francis Goheen, president designate of Princetion University and at 37 the third youngest man ever to be elevated to the presidency of the 211-year old College of New Jersey, in order to find a man who ald been tapped for this honor at ian earlier age it is necessary to flick back the pages of history two full centuries—to the "first, hymn writer of any note in America," Samuel Davies, Princeton's fourth president at 36, and before Davies to Aaron Burr Sr., who was inducted as Princeton's second president at 32 and shortly thereafter was largely responsible for moving Princeton to Princeton. History also shows that the selection of those early educational leaders generated the same sort of surging enthusiasm aroused by Goheen's designation as Harold Willis Dodds' successor.

The dramatic announcement of Gohcen's election as Princeton's 16th president (the best-kept "university secret" of the past decade) not only culminated an 18month search along the highways and byways of American education but also stirred the Princeton community as it seldom has been moved in recent years. Princetonians with and without university affiliations were suddenly aware early last Saturday morning that the Trustees' search had ended here where it had begun; that an assistant professor of classics with a brilliant war record as an infantryman had been singled out; that the University for the sixth time in 200 years would have an alumnus president; and that the "new president" had been born in India, was the son of distinguished medical missionaries and had been a student at Princeton Country Day School.

Just 11 years ago Goheen, Latin Salutatorian of the Princeton Class of 1940 and a lieutenant colonel with the First Cavalry Division in the Philippines in World War II, was thinking seriously of turning his back on education. Although he had completed a year of graduate study before enlisting in 1941, he felt in 1945 with a growing family (now numbering six children) that he could no longer afford to point for an academic career. As he was wrestling with this decision, Princeton brought into being the now flourishing National Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Program, that is designed to encourage persons of promise to enter the teaching profession. Goheen was one of the first four to receive a Wilson Fellowship, the distinctive award which set him squarely on the road to the presidency.

After taking his graduate degrees Goheen joined the Department of, Classics in 1948 and three years later was named first incumbent of the Atthur Scribner Bicentennial Preceptorship, established as part of a program to encourage the development of teaching capacity and scholarship at the assistant-professor level. Senior Fellow in Classics at the American Academy in Rome in 1952-53, Goheen in the summer of 1953 succeeded Courtey Smith, now president of Swarthmore and also a former Bicentennial Preceptor, as director of the nationwide Wilson Fellowship Program. For a period of three years, ending last July, Goheen combined teaching with a lough administrative assignment that brought him into contact with virtually every major ufficersty and liberal arts college in this country.

For combining in rare measure the highest qualities of intellect, character and personality; for dedicating his future to the hope that⁶⁻¹ can help Princeton continue to grow in its contribution to the welfare of man-kind; "for understanding education's, and the world's, need for the kind of leadership that blends wisdom intelligence and tolerance; he is our nominee for

"DESPERATE SITUATION"

Hospital Expanding Now. Driven by a "desperate situation stemming from the mounting pressures of population growth," the board of trustees of Princeton Hospital this week decided to initiate immediately a $491,000 construction program for 54 additional medical and surgical hedge tional medical and surgical beds. The sudden decision to expand the hospital's capacity at once will increase the total of available beds from 161 to 215 (see architects' sketch, page 21.)

Announcing the urgent move, John H. Wallace Jr., president of the board, emphasized that the "need for added facilities has be-come so acute that the trustees dared wait no longer in taking this step forward which has been in planning by the building com-mittee since December, 1955." A construction contract for some $395,000, originally scheduled for 1960, was awarded this week to Matthews Construction Company of Princeton, low bidder among four candidates. The cost for equipment and furnishings will come to another $96,000.

In view of "frightening statistics, showing that the hospital during the current year has repeatedly been operating without any reserve of beds for either family or a power little and the state of the family or community emergencies," Mr. Wallace stated that 'the trustees have committed the hospital to a program that will be carried forward with all possible speed and will have to be underwritten by an area-wide campaign for capital funds."

The 54-bed expansion, which will also include the addition of a long-needed Department of Physical Medicine and a cast room, will be effected at a cost of approximately $9,000 a bed by adding a top floor to the wing completed in 1953 and extending the wing itself some 32 feet to the horth. Because of the hospital's "sound planning" and "step-by-step development" in recent years, the cost per added bed will run 36% less than a single new Princeton new bed five years ago and well below the present national average, which is high due to construction costs of $30,-000 per bed in some places.

"Living in Danger," Continuing his discussion of the trustees' reasoning, the hospital president said, "It is hard to believe that, in three short years, the incalculable forces of populating growth have brought us to the point where Princeton is living in danger if calamity should strike either the community or a group of individuals.

"Repeatedly during the year DEGREE : JERRE CARRELE CONTROL CONTROL

1956 we have been living on horrowed time — meaning days and nights when all of the hospital's heds have been filled, times when the hospital's staff didn't know from one hour to the next whether it would be necessary or not to ask patients to leave the hos-pital to make room for the criti-cally ill, or the injured."

In 1956, on seven out of every 10 days, the hospital has been turning away a daily average of more than 20 elective, or non-critical, admissions. Throughout November, the medical and surgical departments have been operating nearly 25% above the "danger point." Interestingly, an indication of Princeton's terrific -Continued on Page 4

-Continued from Page or recent growth lies in hospital figures which show that, in the past year, almost one in every six patlents has lived in or around the town for less than five years—and many of this number for less than three.

The hospital's plans for added beds and for "Merwick", the Bayard Lane residence now being converted into the hospital's long-term nursing division, will be realized simultaneously, Mr. Wallace explained. Upon completion, the integrated "Merwick" oivision will accommodate 42 patients taging, convalescing or afflicted with lingering illness), leaving that many more beds for use at the hospital.

COUNCIL BUSY

Two Ordinances Tauled. Two ordinances designed to alter the town's business district were tabled for further study by the Mayor and Council Tuesday night, following public hearings that drew attention to flaws in the proposed measures. Chief apponents to them were brothers George R. Cook, III (President of Princeton Bank and Trust Company) and Edmund D. Cook (head of Cook Realtors.)

Revision of the official Borough Map calls for such rights-of-way as 100 feet on Nassau Street, 80 on Witherspoon and 50 on Bank. The president of Princeton Bank told the governing body he considered its proposal "confiscatory Jegislation," pointing to the fact that Bank Street at Nassau is now 18 feet wide and that the proposed map would hiteroff some ten feet of land on which the bank now stands. He lent emphasis to his argument by showing that no larger rights-of-way are planned for Tulane or John Streets at Nassau (both identical in nature to Bank Street.)

Edmund D. Cook held forth against the proposal to change Nassau Street (north side, from Vandeventer to Moore, and south side, Washington to Olden) from a B-1 to a B-2 rating in business districts. The latter limits ouildings to a maximum of three stories, and it was Mr. Cook's contention that property owners in that area must have the right to build to a height of five stories, representation of the second o or to sell to others with such intentions.

"Such a proposal," he told the mayor and council, "will help run business out of the Borough.' The Planning Board, which will now consider further both the official map and the zoning revisions, is seeking a "transitional zone" along Nassau Street: from B-1 the center and greatest in density), to B-2 (still business), to residential.

Council also:

- Confirmed Fire Department elections for 1957 that will see George F. Rollings, Sr. of Hook and Ladder as chief; Joseph S. Stemmle of No. 3 as first assistant, and Walter F. Coan of No. 1 as second assistant.
- Named to the Marquand Park Advisory Committee Mrs. Bradford B. Locke, representing the Garden Club; Bryan V. Moore for the Board of Education; and John R. Arscott for the Playgrounds Committee.

- Advanced Michael Carnevale to rank of patrolman after a year's satisfactory probationary service.
- Delayed municipal acceptance of Wilson Road, because it does not meet construction specifications.
- Welcomed Mayor Sturges back from his hospital bed following his operation, noting with pleasure that his presence kept intact his record of not having missed a regularly-scheduled meeting in seven years.

Much of the optimism over this year's two-act musical comedy has stemmed from the recent offering of "Goose Lagoon," the show's elaborate parody of "Swan Loke," on Ed Sullivan's TV program. Lyon and Peter Hamilton, Broad-way chorcographer, put their company of 25 undergraduate dancers, singers and actors through the demanding paces of 17 musical and production num-bers. To begin with, there was the tradition of other fine Triangle efforts, including the 1955 show.

And, in keeping with this happy tradition, there were hectic and unbelievable dress rehearsals ear-lier this week.

Large Orchestra Set. An 13-piece pit orchestra for "Ganderi" joined the performers at dress run-throught in an attempt to add ballads, novelties and ballets. Ar-rangements by Harry Pierpont, experienced orchestrator, utilizing 20 instruments—one of the large-set totals in Triongle history— set totals in Triongle history— with enthusiastic results.

All music results.

All music hyear's production was composed by Princeton students, who admit the same aspirations as many of their predecesors. Well-remembered are such national song hits as "East of the Sun" and "Love on a Dime," products of previous Triangle musicals.

Following this weekend's debut in Princeton, "Cander!" will commerce a 5,000-mile rallroad tour of 16 cities for 21 performances, including three in New York and two in Chicago. For Princetonians who miss out during the show's run here, there will be a benefit performance next Tuesday eventually the state of the sta

The Triangle Show, with a reputation that always drops such names as Jimmy Stewart, Josh Logan, Jose Ferrer, et al. will attrie its would-be Stewarts in $5,000 worth of costumes, created especially for "Gander!" And the complete troupe of 60 performers, musicians, stage crew and business personnel will carry their high hopes as far west as Tulsa, as far south as Charleston and as far north as Dettoit and Buffalo.

Ohituaries

Frank T. Bird, 44, of 249 Hamilton Avenue, died December 8 in Princeton Hospital of a heart at-tack. He had been a member of the Princeton Police Department for 21 years, receiving promotions to the rank of sergeant and lieutenant and serving in the latter capacity at the time of his death.

Born in Trenton, Lieutenant Bird moved to Princeton at an early age and was educated here. He was an alumnus of Princeton High School.

In addition to his regular duties on the police force, he was active in school patrol instruction and safety training for scores of Princeton children. An estimate of his contributions to the community, in this respect appears on page 27

Lieutenant Bird also found time to be active in various civic, social and religious organizations here. He was a past commander of Princeton Post 76, American Legion; a member of the Hook and Ladder and Chemical Engine Co. No. 1; of the Firemen's Relief and Exempt Firemen's Associations; and of the Princeton Lions Club.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Marie Brophy Bird; a son, James W.; a daughter, Mary Lou; and his mother, Mrs. Richard Bird of

The service was held at The Mather Funeral Home, followed by requiem mass at St. Paul's Catholic Church, of which he was a member, Burial was in the particular of the service of the serv ish cemetery.

Miss Margaret J. Foley, 89, of 238 Nassau Street, died December 5 at her home. She was a lifelong resident of this community.

Miss Foley was the daughter of John and Margaret Foley. Six nieces and six nephews are her

Fund for Lt. Bird Started

To supplement the small pension which will go to the family of the late Lieutenant Frank T. Bird, a fund was started this week by some of his many friends throughout the Princeton community.

Co-chairmen of the commit-tee organizing the campaign are Chester R. Stroup, Principal of the Nassau Street Ele-mentary School, with whom Lieutenant Bird worked in safety instruction for children, and Dr. Oscar Sussman of 42 Clover Lane. Contributions may be sent to Borough Hall, and checks should be made payable to "The Frank T. Bird Fund."

nearest survivors.

The service was held at The Mather Funeral Home, followed by requiem high mass at St. Paul's Catholic Church, of which she was a member, Burial was in the parish cemetery.

John J. O'Kane, 63, a native of Kingston, died December 5 at his home, 60 Gramercy Park, New York City. His death was caused by a heart attack.

A partner in the firm of John J. O'Kane, Jr. & Co., New York stockbrokers, Mr. O'Kane was a member of the Class of 1916 at Princeton University. A member of the board of governors of the National Security Dealers Association, he was a past commader of Wall Street Post, American Legion. He belonged to the Princeton Club of New York.

Mr. O'Kane was the son of the late John J. and Anna Marie O'Kane. A brother, Thomas O'Kane of Princeton, is his nearest survivor. The funeral was held in New York, with burial in St. Paul's Cemetery, Princeton, under direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Music in Princeton

FORCES COMBINED

Glee Clubs Join Orchestra. The attractive young ladies of Miss Fine's School and the stalwart young men of the Princeton University Freshman Glee Club combined forces Sunday evening with the University Symphony Orchestra for a concert of music, vocal and instrumental. Presented un-der the auspices of the Friends of Music at Princeton, an admirable organization which does much to integrate the musical life of the Princeton community, the concert offered a stimulating coalescence of amateur and professional musle making.

First the women. There must be a soft spot in every female conductor's heart for the angelicchoirs-heard-on-high type song, which has the altos singing of cherubim and seraphim while the sopranos vocalize an extended melisma on "Ah-h-h." Amy Kleckner, who conducted the glee club from Miss Fine's, was no exception, as the first selection in the girls' solo group, the "Cherubim Song" by Bortnlansky, well testifled. If the music chosen by the club was somewhat pale and wan, if the arrangement of Deep River seemed admirably ill-suited to female voices, there were the com-pensations of clean phrasing, careful attention to detail, and the nesthetic satisfaction of hearing some 35 pure, sweet voices raised in pure, sweet song.

Spencer Welch led the Princeton Freshman Glee Club'in a group of compositions of considerably greater interest. Attentive and well-rehearsed, the club sang works hy Bach, Buxtehude, Holst and Mendelssohn with an assurance which indicated both a careful study of the music and complete confidence in the discreet gestures of conductor Welch, Consistently fine diction, with the exception of the Mendelssohn "Jaeger Abschied," sung in German presumably, but with the Lehewohl of the refrain being the unly clearly articulated word, was coupled with good halance and controlled dynamics, to give sufficient proof that the Freshman Glee Club is indeed having one of Its good years.

The program began with two choruses from the Utrecht Jubi-late of Handel, performed by the combined glee clubs conducted by Mr. Welch. The plane accompanist, Ronald Jacobowitz, dispatched his duties at the keyboard with extraordinary control and dexterity, generating a rhythmic energy which was reflected in the spirited singing of the voices. Miss Kleckner conducted the most ambitious vocal undertaking of the evening, "In Proise of Music" ((Frau Musica), by Paul Hindemith, which employed both glee clubs accompanied by members of the Princeton University Orches-

A bravo to Miss Kleckner for the attempt, and a somewhat weaker huzzah for the realization of it. Frau Musica, as observed Sunday evening, was not always the tidlest of housekeepers. Blurry outlines and shaky string intonation marred the overall effect, but moments such as the fugato between winds and strings preced-ing the words "Of all the seasons best is spring," were redemption enough,

The second half of the program was given over to the Princeton University Orchestra, conducted by Nicholas Harsanyi, Roger Kanden, soloist in the Schumann A minor Piano Concerto, triumphed over the wretched acoustics of Alexander Hall and the more serious handicap of an inadequate piano.

His brilliant technique, which drew a spontaneous hurst of applause from the audience at the end of the first movement, easily surmounted the difficult virtuoso passages and stamped Mr. Kamien as a piaulst of professional caliber. Only in the lyric second movement, with its intimate dialogue between piono and orches-tra, was the flow of the music Impeded by exaggerated phrasing and a sluggish tempo.

The rapport which existed between pionist and conductor was unfortunately not matched at all times by that bewteen conductor and orchestra. The demands of the music, both in volume of sound required to balance the thundering piano, and the necessary flexihility to keep pace with the solo instrument proved a bit too taxing for the small group of student musicians. (Interesting to see so many gray and balding under-graduates scattered throughout the orchestra.) Commendable, however, were the warm, sustained sounds of the vello section, the fine artistry of clarinetist George Jones, and the beautiful tone and technique of John Solum and his platinum flute.

Far from being anticlimactic, the final work on the program, a set of Russian folk songs by Anatol Lindov, provided a perfect The music seemed tailormade for the University Orchestra, and it was here rather than in the Schumann that one could better judge the merits of the ensemble. The colorful instrumentation of these piece the pizzicato strings, the tambourine, the piccolo - was well projected by the members of the orchestra, which might well he proud of the meticulous cratsmanship, the attention to nuance and detail, which was displayed in the performance,

Annual Christmas Vespers. The Princeton University Chapel Choir, under the direction of Carl Weinrich, will be joined by the Sarah Lawrence Chorus, conducted by Harold Aks, in participating in the annual Christmas Vesper Service to be held Sunday in the University Chapel, The program will begin at 3:30 p.m.

The program of Christmas music will include Bach chorales, selections by Diering, Sweelink and Vittoria, and a Buxtehude cantata, "Das Neugehorne Kinderlein." In the cantata, the chorus will be assisted by members of the Princeton Symphony Orchestra.

Take the pole apart into three pieces for storage, fasten it together when you wan to dust the topmost molding in a high-ceilinged room ($4.95.)

With a few exceptions, small appliances are much the same this year as last. One new device is a hair-dryer ($24.95) that's a plastic cap. It fits over your head and it's attached to the control by a long, flexible tube. Your hands are free-to hold a book, do your nails or play solitaire until your hair is dry. General Electric has a new little hand-mixer this year that comes in a lovely shade of pink to use when you make a pink cake. Roror has them, and so does Redding's (234 Nassau), and Tiger Auto, 26 Witherspoon, Nu-Tone has a blendor, mixer, knife sharpener at Urken's. The little mixer is in a spun-aluminum bowl, the unit is underneath. You can beat a cake without holding the bowl. Attachments come out for washing, Price: $59,95.

Redding also has that handsome G.E. copper (rying pan ($17.95) and the speed kettle in copper ($16.95.) Rorer's suggests that you cook eggs in Sunbeam's $13,95 egg cooker. Urken's likes the idea of toast from the G.E. toaster with warming oven underneath.

(Town, Gourmet, Cummins),

The entire collection is in the best tradition of Danish design and eminently worthy of your attention. But we'll bet that salesman takes a long day's journey into night before he comes to Princeton again.

Innumerable things to buy.

Casseroles at Town are stainless steel with baked-on enamel in various bright shades. There are also heating units in wood with a tile that heats up for your carafe or your casserole. The wood is walnut and the heating unit is so artfully concealed that the cord is the only give-away. Salt and pepper comes with the casserole unit, creamer and sugar with the carafe.

Rorer's serves up the fish on a fish-shaped glass platter that fits into a basket. The soup course comes in Chinese bowls and spoons ($2) at Kung Ping. Relish dishes at the Chinese glft shop are shaped and colored like egg plant, celery and carrots, $1 each.

Urken's has an inexpensive set of gold-handed glassware for serving. There's a cake plate, creamer and sugar, a cruet set, candy dish and cigarette box with four matching ash-trays. To give you an idea of price, the box and ash-tray set is $1.39.

Milk glass cake plates and accessory pieces line up in a pristine white row at Wald's.

Dreaming of a silver Christ-mas? La\ake-Reid suggests any of their silver cake and sandwich platters, trays, candy dishes or candle-sticks. The shop at 54 Nassau also has pearl-handled fruit knives, six for $27.50, and makes the suggestion that you keep the set in mind for thirtieth wedding anniversaries, This pearl anniversary is often hard to find presents

Home-Made Glitter

The staff at Clayton's has delved into drawers and boxes and brought out a scintillnting collection to prove that when Christmas comes, all that glitters is gold.

They've set a table of little boxes full of sequins, spangles, stars, beads and glitter. On the same table there are sequins by the yard, gold braid in sufficient variety for a Cecil B. de-Mille uniform, spools of gold and silver thread, yards of irridescent beads, Behind all this array is box of blank styrofoam balls and hells for you to decorate with the materials at hand. Or you may huy some blank felt snowmen, Santas, reindeer, and pretty them up. There is felt by the yard in mnny colors, if you want to start from the beginning. There's nylon net for party aprons, and even a leaflet of suggestions in case the sight of all this wealth stuns your imagination.

Take home a handful of everything and turn your children loose with it on the kitchen table.

pitcher 15 inches tall and shaped precisely like a cocktail glass. One Martini and you may think you're Alice in Wonderland, reduced to six-inch size. It's an unnerving thing, that pitcher (see a note farther on in this column about a tea-kettle).

Flower Basket has the exact opposite-a bahy mixer for just two Martinis. Gourmet suggests, for the same purpose, an exquisite Finnish glass pitcher, pinched in the middle, and just as suitable as a vase or carafe. ($4.50). There is a collection of this finely drawn Finnish glass — bowls of various sizes, cordial glasses—all of it in jewel tones of red, royal, violet or palest jade.

Rorer's bartender uses eight highball glasses by Libby, each with an old-fashioned mode of transportation on its side (covered wagon, wood-buining engine, etc. Show me the way to go home?)

LaVake-Reid says they taste better from a sterling cocktail shaker ($88), Urken's likes Mir-ro's bar supplies in copper (jig-ger, shaker, tongs for $3.95), The plain Swedish crystal decanters at Wald's would serve a good purpose, and so would the can cups from the same store. NATO Conference Planned Here. Princeton University has announced it will invite 50 representatives from all of the 15 North Atlantic Treaty Organiza-tion countries here in June for a 10-day international conference on "The Future of NATO." Dr. Harold W. Dodds, president of the University, reported that the purpose of the conference will be to permit government officials, scholars, editors and others influential in foreign affairs to con-centrate on problems and pros-

centrate on problems and prospects confronting NATO.

The program of the conference, which will be held from June 19 through June 29 on the University campus, will include lectures by distinguished authorities, general discussion of the lectures by the conference as a whole and a series of smaller seminars. Ala series of smaller seminars, Although the conference has the support of both NATO and the United States Department of State, it "is not in any sense and their it is not in any sense and their it is not in any sense and their or government. othicial, or government—sponsored event — the entire responsibility for the conference in all its aspects rests with the University.

1984 (Dec. 13-15) is still 28 years off, but, if there is any chance that author George Or-well's terrifying fiction may become terrifying fact by that time, let's hope the scientists come up with a long-range, getaway rock-el ship. For, if we are to believe Orwell and his Columbia collabor-ators, "Big Brother" is destined to dominate much of the globe by 1984, maintaining a firm grip because his "thought police" hold an upper hand (the dirty totalitarians). Michael Redgrave, Ed-mond O'Brien and Jan Sterling contribute their customary acting finesse to this original, suspense-ful and realistic film, the former as a double-crossing member of the Inner Party who naturally hates love and the latter pair as Outer Parly member and Anti-Sex League participant who make the mistake of trying romance and get "brainwashed" for their deliant ways.

Madame Butterfly (Dec. 17-19), Giacomo Puccini's magnificent opera, receives good treatment in this movie version, a harmonious product of the Japanese and Italian film industries. Shot in handsome Technicolor in Rome, it pre-sents Japanese performing the Oriental roles and Italians as the Occidental characters of a famil-iar tragedy. The slow pace of the story development and the somewhat stilted acting are not aimed at pleasing critical Americans, but the beauty of the music cannot be denied and this feature of the production is done well. An occasional English narration adds little to the whole, in all. Princeton moved out to an eight-point lead midway through the second half, fell back to 58-55 but then controlled the ball and play beautifully to break the game open in the lest two minutes. Cappy Cappon went with six players, Captain Don Davidson, Fulcomer, Belz and MacKenzie going 40 minutes and senior Walt Blankley giving a valuable performance as a replacement for Fred Perkins.

Upsala Close to Upset, Upsala College (in East Orange) dedicated its new gymnasium Saturday night before some 2,200 eager partisans, who watched their favorites move out to a 27-18 half-time lead over the sluggish Tigers. The latter were without Davidson, confined to the infirmary with a virus.

Twice the home forces led by 11 points, but shortly after the intermission, the Princeton rally brought the Tigers back into contention. It was paced by a pair of sophomores, Carl Belz and Art Klein. The latter, at 5-9, is the shortest man on the squad but he has the qualities of being a playmaker and may become quite valuable before his first varsity season is over.

Belz, high man for Princeton with 15 points, contributed seven to the second-half surge, while Klein dropped in nine. Joe Burns, a 6-4 sophomore who lives in nearby Trenton, added six in the closing minutes as last year's unbeaten freshmen made a thorough-worthwhile contribution to keeping the Tigers from falling victim to a surprising upset.

Next Wednesday, the Orange and Black will travel to New Brunswick to face Rutgers hefore disbanding for Christmas. Immediately after the 25th, the Tigers open a mid-western tour that sends them against Illinois, Purdue and Ohio State.

Hockey Team Loses. About the only consolation Princeton got from its 5-2 loss to the Providence College hockey team last Saturday was that the able Rhode Islanders had beaten Harvard by the same margin. The latter is favored to defend its Ivy title successfully.

The young Tigers—less than half of Dick Vaughan's key players are seniors—managed to score first on a shot from scrimmage by Fred Reynolds at 1:51 of the opening period. Less than 30 counds later, however, the visitors had knotted the count and though they were tied again at 2-all in this round, left the ice with a 3-2 advantage. Sophomore Locke McLean caged Princeton's other goal on a good pass from classmate Larry Elliman.

In an effort to bolster the Tigers' attack, Vaughan put two of his top players on the same line before the game began. He moved senior Klm Townsend up to skate with Harry Rulon-Miller, Bob Kales of Elm Road making the third member. When the final period began, however, senior Charlie Hauser replaced Kales, putting the Tigers' three best on the ice simultaneously.

Sophomore Moe Cheston, a St. Paul's alumnus, caught the eye with his eagerness to play and skating potential. Indications are that he will make a good forward if Vaughan ever gets the depth to move him up from defense. Cheston is currently paired with Doug Levick on defense, behind the veterans Mike Erdman and Frank Logan.

A Wednesday game with Middlebury was played before Saturday's St. Lawrence contest. Next week, the Tigers go to Lynn, Mass., for a pair of encounters against Tufts and Northeastern.

DRY ICE NEEDED

Hockey Club Eyes Skies, Disappointed by rain which caused cancellation of its scheduled hockey game with Lehigh last weekend, the Princeton Hockey Club's senior team hopes to play its first contest of the season this Sunday afternoon at the Lawrenceville rink, Lehigh may or may not be the opponent, depending upon transportation possibilities, but there is every reason to believe some competition will be lined up by Sunday.

Meanwhile, the club's enthusiastic juniors, many of them with a year of PHC experience behind them, will meet the Lawrenceville School varsity at 4 Saturday on the Lawrenceville ice. This will be the junior team's first game of the winter, and also will be the first time the younger set has ventured higher than the Lawrenceville JV for a test match.

Coaches Bill Lovick and Dick Streeter, newly-appointed advisors of the junior division sextet, have been impressed by the hustle and spirit exhibited by the 15 members of their squad and, while quite sure the boys aren't in a class with the Lawrenceville

But Hopes Remain High. The young but eager Johnny Huns prepared of mid-week for their first home basketball gome, Friday afternoon against George School in the Seminary gym, full of confidence despite their defeat at the hands of Delbarton on Monday. Failure to start clicking early in the contest cost Hun & 45-34 decision in its campaign opener in Morristown.

Attributing his team's slow heating process to first-game jitters, a distinct likelihood in view of the club's relative inexperience, Conch Richard Wentworth said he was "satisfied" and predicted better days ahead. He singled out Red & Black forward Chuck Barren for contributing a steadily aggressive and impressive performance.

In the telltale first period, Hun failed miserably while Detbarton's fast break worked on enough occasions to give the home five a 10-3 advantage. The Morristown prep school increased its lead to 24-11 by intermission, but the Eight eastern schools have entered teams in the annual Lawrenceville Invitation Hockey Tournament, which will open a three-day sland in Baker Rink next Thursday afternoon, December 20. Action will continue morning, afternoon and evening until the finals on Saturday.

the finals on Saturday.

In addition to the host school, teams will compete from Deerfield, Choole, St. Paul's, Taft, Nichols of Buffalo, N. Y., Kimhall Union (from New Hampshire) and Trinity College School, Port Hope, Ontario. St. Paul's is the defending champion.

Johnny Huns started moving in the third quarter, permitting the winners only an 8-7 edge, and actually outscored Delbarton in the final period, 16-13.

winners only an 5-1 edge, and actually outscored Delbarton in the final period, 16-13.

Guard Dave Phares, a 6-foot junior, paced Hun's point-makers with 12, followed by guard George Cramer with 9 and Barren with 8. The Red & Black appeared to be the equal of Delbarton, but Cramer, counted on heavily, failed to connect on any of his many shots at the game's outset—and his tardy start proved damaging. The senior from Princeton collected all his points in the last quarter.

Mrs. Constable Wins Again, Betty Constable of Princeton last weekend showed once again why she is the nation's champion woman squash singlist as she defeated Ann Welzel of Philadelphia, 15-12, 15-5, 15-11, in the New Jersey women's singles squash championship played at the Pretty Brook Club.

Ars. Wetzel, the Pennsylvania state titlist and runner-up to Mrs. Constable in the nationals, gained the finals by topping Peggy Carrott, the Connecticut champion, 15-7, 15-6, 15-2, Mrs. Constable stopped Betty Shellenberger of Philadelphia, 15-9, 17-15, 15-5, to reach the showdown match.

Another Princeton entry, Enid Woodworth, didn't fare so well in her consolation tinals match as she bowed to Blanche Day of Philadelphia, 15-13, 15-7, 15-6. Other Princeton entrants were Pat Maxwell, Ann Delano, Margaret Frothingham, Frances Hutner, Marjorie Claghorn, Edo Petter, Barbara Smoyer, Louise Bristol and Charlotte Warden.

BOWLING NOTES

Bill Bergen "broke the sound barrier" at Princeton Recreation Center this past week, rolling a red-hot series of 651 with individdual games of 242, 209 and 200. . . . By so doing, the Belle Mead fireman kept his team in a dog-fight for first place in the Tri-County Firemen's League with Princeton Engine Company No. 1, . . . The latter, with 53 wins, remained just ahead of Belle Mead, with 54 wins, while Kingston held third place in the 12-team loop with 48 triumphs. . . . Behind Bergen in the scoring department—far behind—were Dan Clark, 211, and Ted Drake, 203. . . . Other high series were posted in the Industrial League by Hal Frazee of Nassau Delicatessen (220-203-172) and Bruce Ferguson of Glenmoor Diner (211-200-170). . . . Ferguson's performance helped his club sew up the first half of the current loop season with 74 wins, substantially in front of Wengryn Construction, which recorded a total of 66. . . Frazee's series was instrumental in hiking his team from seventh position to a fifth place tie with Gable (54 wins each) in the eight-club league. . . Others with noteworthy individual games were Rudy Lehnert, 210, Ralph Kleiber, 203, Bill Bathie, and Walt Wengryn, 202 apiece, and Paul Bowen, 201.

Action aplenty was featured in the Princeton "B" League this past week as Jake Bartolino bowled his highest series ever (195-226-196 for a 617), Pat DeNatale tossed a nifty 244 game, the National Guard team took over first place with 48 wins (to 46 for run-ner-up Plainsboro Lions) and Tiger Bus found itself stuck at the hottom of the 10-team league after failing to earn a single point in almost a month...... Don Arcomone's 225 was another eyecatch-Ing "B" lop game, as were Charles Perpetua's 212 and Secretary Dick Edwards' 210. . . It was a similar story in the Princeton "A" League, which saw Tiger Garage take eight points from Yeoman's and Grover Lumber take eight from Nassau Oil No. 2 to remain in a deadlock for the top spot (78 wins each) with the season's first half scheduled to end this week. . . . Bogert Molors, third among the loop's eight clubs with 58 triumphs, was out of the running for first-half lnurels. . . Bill Dumble's 212 led the "A" keglers, followed closely by Red Irven, 211, Al Wilkinson, 210, Nick Sculerati, 207, and Bill Sculerati, 201, No position changes were effected in the six-team Major League, Frazee's Market remaining in first place, with 53 wins, to 48 for Tiger Garage and 46 for The Key Shop. . Individual scores included Bill Bovino, 213, Larry Golden, 204. -Continued on Page 27

News of the Churches

Cornerstone is Laid. In ceremonies that were impressive in spite of cold rain, the cornerstone of the new St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church was laid last Sunday afternoon. Bishop George W. Ayr of Trenton blessed the stone and performed the ritual of setting it in place.

The church, still unfinished inside, was begun in the late summer of 1955 after the old St. Paul's church was razed. The cornerstone encloses a record of the present era, including a list of names of all St. Paul parishioners, front pages of all current Prince'on papers, plus the New York Times and Treuton Times, a "Statement of Events" with the names of the President, Governor of the State, Bishop of the Diocese and priests of the parish, and a sample of every coin from a silver dollar down.

The Rev. Hugh Halton, O.P., delivered the sermon at the ceremony. He is chaplain to Catholic students at Princeton University. The Rev. Joseph Brzozowski of Our-Lady of Peace Church, Fords, N. J., served as deacon, the Rev. John E. Grimes, rector of St. Mary's Cathedral, Trenton, was sub-deacon, and the Rev. Robert R. Murray of St. Mary Magdelene, Flemington, was the assistant, The Rev. Father Murray was formerly curate at St. Paul's before his transfer to the Flemington Church.

After the cornerstone had been laid, parishioners attended an open house at the new convent and rectory.

Signs of Growth. The new Westerly Road Church will start a Sunday School this Sunday at 9:45 a.m. for children of all ages. Shortly after the first of the year, an adult class will be formed.

In preparation for services in the new church, Unitarians have formed a choir under the direction of Elliot Forbes. So far the 13 members of the choir have sung at two services.

Bulletin Notes. Undergraduates, faculty and faculty children will gather for a Carol Sing and Christmas party next Tuesday. The sing will be held in the Student Center at 7:30 p.m., and will be followed by a candle-light service of Holy Communion at 10 p.m. in the University Chapel.

Combined choirs of the Second Presbyterian church will sing at the Family Christmas Carol Candielight Service this Sunday at

Sing a New Song

"Rise Up, Shepherd", a new spiritual written by Richard Averre, a student at Westminster Choir College, will be sung by the adult choir of the First Presbyterian Church at the 11 a.m. service this Sunday.

The entire 11 a.m. service

The entire 11 a.m. service will be Christmas music, under the direction of Mrs. Mary Krimmel. In addition to the new Averre anthem, the adult choir will sing parts of the Christmas portion of "The Messiah", a Basque Quercy carol, "Sing We Noel Once More", the Spanish folk-song, "O, Bethlehem" and "Born Today".

Bethlehem" and "Born Today", Children in the Junior Choir will sing a short Christmas song written by Vincent Persichetti and published this year.
It is "Love Will Come at Christmas". The High School Choir has a group of seven carols arranged by Cecil Cope.
None of these arrangements has ever been sung in Princeton before.

Soloists for this special Christmas program will be Virginia Switten and Bernadine Cochran, sopranos; Marjorie Stetson, contraito and Richard Sly, tenor.

4:30. Mrs. Franks Evatt and Frances Wagner are the soloists. The major work, to be sung by the Senior and Youth Choirs, will be "Christmas Day", by Gustav Holst. The Melodia Choir will sing "The Star" from Clokey's cantata, "Childe Jesus".
